EVERYTHING READY

Everything was in readiness at the penitentiary here for receiving the condemned pair. Warden Stanley P. Ashe arrived in Bellefonte last night to make final arrangements for the double execution.

It will be the first time in the history of this state that a woman has occupied a cell in the death house. Robert Elliott, of New York, executioner of Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray in Sing Sing prison three years ago, will throw the switch that will send "Iron Irene" and Dague to their doom. He is expected in Bellefonte momentarily. He will make every effort to conceal his presence. Canvas of the hotels failed to disclose that he had made any reservation.

Up to a late hour last night, Mrs. Schroeder and Dague were still in the county jail at New Castle. The greatest secrecy prevailed as regards the departure of the pair for Bellefonte. Warden Ashe told International News Service he had not been apprised when they would leave and said he would have no statement to make until they are under his jurisdiction.

BUILD PARTITION

Mrs. Schroeder will be placed in the charge of a matron upon her arrival at Rockview penitentiary. A partition has been erected in the cell block which will prevent her from engaging in any long distance conversation with her lover. Whether the pair will be permitted to say goodbye to each other on Monday morning was a matter upon which the Warden would not commit himself. Neither would he say whether the relatives of the condemned couple would be allowed to see them while they are in the death house. As the hour of the double execution approaches, Mrs. Schroeder and Dague are reported to be losing some of their steel-nerved composure from the county jail at New Castle came word last night that Mrs. Schroeder's eyes showed signs of weeping.

Crowds Attend Annual County Court Sessions

Pickaway-co's annual basketball tournament got underway Friday evening and was continued Saturday with large crowds in attendance at both sessions. Nearly all games played were of the sensational style with the team which started in the lead losing out at the end. This was true in the Ashville-Perry boys' game and the Monroe-Jackson boys' game both won by Ashville and Jackson after they had trailed through part of the tilt.

Two of the tournament's favorites, Pickaway boys and Walnut girls went through their Saturday morning games as mere formalities, although the Deercreek boys gave Pickaway a scare in the first period. The New Holland-Walnut boys' game was on as we went to press.

Walnut 34; Jackson 11-Girls

Walnut-tw's powerful girls' court team started on the right foot Saturday morning eliminating Jackson-tw's varsity sextet. The count was 34-11.

With Brown hitting the hoop for plenty of goals and plenty of free throws and Aldenderfer adding heavily to the score the Walnut girls were ahead from the first minute. The periods ended 13-0, 19-5, 23-9 and 34-11.

Brown tallied four goals, one overhead shot and nine free throws. Aldenderfer counted six buckets and two overhead shots. Jackson's scoring was divided between Fischer, Huston and Fortner.

Summary:

Pickaway 30; Deercreek 18-Boys

With Pickaway's hard-driving offense in evidence from the opening whistle, Coach Otto Meyer's team, one of the tourney's favorites, walked off with its first game over Deercreek Saturday morning in the first game by a tally of 30-18. Last year's finalists just couldn't stop the drives of Wilson, Anderson and Estell with the result that after the first period the issue was never in doubt.

The first session ended 7-6, the half 16-8, the third period 28-11, all in favor of the Pickaway lads.

Wilson and Anderson carried off scoring honors for the winner with Baird doing most for his team. Dunkle's defensive play for Pickaway was superb.

Saltcreek 26; Perry 11-Girls

With the Saltcreek offense clicking to perfection, Perry-tw's girl court team was eliminated in the first round of play Friday in the fourth game of the evening. Saltcreek stepped out in the opening period to gain a 9-4 lead which they increased to 26-11 when the game ended.

Chilcote, Kreider and Neff, center and two forwards, were all hitting the hoop in good style while Miss Patrick's work on the defense brought her many plaudits. Farmer did the greater part of the Perry-tw scoring. The score at the end of the half was 15-8 and the third period ended 20-9.

Several overhead shots were scored during the game, each of which counted only one point. They were credited three to Miss Chilcote, one to Miss Stevenson and one to Miss Kirk. In the summary they will be listed as foul shots.

Summary:

Jackson 27; Monroe 15-Boys

A great last half when Capt. Cecil Radcliff and his cohorts bit the hoop from every angle gave Jackson-tw a victory over Monroe-tw Friday evening. This was the best and hardest played game of the first evening's program. The score was 27-15.

Monroe's boys, fighting for every shot and rushing the Jackson boys on every attempt at the net, took an early lead and at the end of the first half led 10-8. An attempt to score by long passes from the center of the court to a man under the basket played havoc with Jackson's chances in the first half.

In the second they cut their offense to a shorter pass system and quickly surpassed the Monroe team. The final period was featured by good shooting of the winners.

Radcliff, after a disappointing start, came to himself, and set a pace in the second half which couldn't be matched by Monroe. J. R. Downs, crippled Monroe

In this connection, officials declared that in a community where the company is permitted to barely make expenses of operation, or is denied even that opportunity, additional equipment and expenditures for other improvements of service can not be anticipated.

MELBA CRITICAL

LONDON, Feb. 21.—The condition of Dame Nellie Melba, famed Australian singer who has been ill for weeks has become extremely critical, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Sydney today.

George Washington was a man who could live in his time yet ahead of his time. He was a polished, captivating English gentleman, and he was our much-beloved American. He owned vast estates, he kept slaves, rode in a coach and lived on a high social plane. He wore a powdered wig, knee-breeches and buckle slippers. His tall stature, noble countenance and manly bearing gave him an air of superiority. He was grace and dignity, state-likeness and honor personified.

An elegant courtier, his refinement won him a place of esteem among all who knew him. His was a personality that impressed others with tremendous reserve power. His statesmanship and nobility, and withal his sympathetic qualities, made him the mightiest leader of the eighteenth century, and history holds the names of precious few who wrought as he did.

He possessed rare sagacity of judgment. He had foresight and insight. His counsel was always of the best, for his decisions were deliberate and sound. As a military chieftain his triumphs were many. The siege of Trenton was a glory all its own. At Monmouth, Princeton and Yorktown, he showed himself a true knight, brave as the greatest hero, unflinching as the sturdiest patriot. He was always calm in defeat, modest in victory.

The first president of the nation he had made by the sword, he molded those states into a mighty, compact union, and gave the world the first great interpretation of nationalism, inspiring those defenders who came later.

How richly he deserves to be called "The Father of His Country!"

Ages of Three Total 246 Yrs.

When John Warren, 82 of Klagston, Isaiah Thomas, 81, and W. W. Taylor, 83, both of Laurelville, got together in a big confab at a store in Laurelville the other day, their ages represented a total of 246 years.

All three are Civil War vets and talked of their past experiences; when they left their homes; in which company they enlisted, the important battles in which they were engaged and until they again returned home.

And another thing they didn't overlook was their old sweethearts, and the pranks they pulled off back in those old days.

This represented the first regular convention for the old vets in years. All three have many friends in this city.

High School Girls Continue Sensational Play

Hand Frankfort 35-15 Drubbing

BY PAT KIRWIN.

Adding another victim to their long row of consecutive victories, which is just an old Spanish custom with them, Miss Rains' Circleville high school girls again trounced Frankfort for the second time on the high school gym floor last evening by the score of 35-15. In a previous game played in the Ross-co town the high school girls defeated Frankfort by the score of 29-17. The game consisted of so many buckets and the Red and Black varsity did not need exert themselves through the game, until the last quarter when the Frankfort lassies garnered a few points.

In the first quarter, the Rams-coached aggregation played such fast ball for the visitors that they didn't realize what was going on, and at the end of this period the score was 15-2, with Fitzpatrick, Eldridge and Heskett doing the scoring for the local sextet, and Orr for Frankfort.

In the second quarter Frankfort strengthened, and played a good defense, allowing Circleville to score but two points, while they gained six.

Heskett scored the only goal obtained this quarter for Red and Black, while Orr and Smith of the opposition garnered the six points for their side, which included two buckets and a couple of free shots, changing the score at the end of the half 17-8, with Frankfort still on the short end.

The third quarter was more or less evenly played as far as scoring was concerned as the Tigress machine obtained but six points to their opponents' three. Heskett opened the scoring by putting in a goal followed by Orr of Frankfort, who completed two free throws, later following with a goal. Fitzpatrick scored two more buckets and at the end of third quarter the score stood 28-11.

In the fourth quarter, Circleville obtained the ball, and Fitzpatrick dropped in three consecutive goals, before Frankfort was aware of what was coming off, however, Orr followed with a bucket and the score changed 31-13. In the meantime Eldridge and Hilder each scored a bucket, followed by Orr, who again completed a shot, when the game ended, the score 35-15.

Miss Rains sent a group of second stringers in the last quarter, who played fine defense and held Frankfort to a "one-goal" score.

This completes the girls' eighth consecutive victory, and they hope to add another victim to their row next week when they meet Bliss College here.

A shot by Ward, Ashville's left guard, from the center of the floor, the most sensational shot of the first evening's play, won for the Harrison-twps lads over Perry-twps in the first upset of the tournament. The score was 12-10. Ashville boys had won but one game during the regular season that from Darby which team they will play next.

Ward had shot only twice before in the game, neither hitting. With the score tied 10-10 he dribbled to the center of the court and let the leather fly. It's swish through the strings brought victory.

Sturgell played a nice game for the Ashville team, fighting for the ball at all times. His two goals in the third period put his team in the running. Thacker was the best boy Perry had on the court.

RED, BLACK VARSITY DEFEATS ALUMNI QUINTET, SCORE 27-24

Coach Herberholz' Team Comes From Behind In Last Period To Take Verdict In Great Fight; Merle Davis, Freshman, Outscores His Brother.

Playing in a consistent form, Coach Herberholz' Circleville high school Tigers pulled a fast one to defeat the C. H. S. Alumni at the high school gym Friday night by the score of 27-24. The game looked as though anyone could claim it until the last minutes when the Tigers broke loose. The defeat came as a great surprise to the one-time high school lads, who defeated the Red and Black varsity in the opening game of the season by the score of 32-13.

The game was as interesting and as close throughout as any game that has been played on the high school floor this year, as the score changed about 25 times. John Heggie scored the opening points when he tossed in a goal from the side of the floor. Heiskell followed for the Alumni, scoring their first point, by completing a free shot. Merle Davis added another bucket to the score followed by Zeke Zeimer, who also had a nice shot making the score 4-3. Jaggy Davis then completed two charity tosses followed by White of the Red and Black quint, who shot a free throw, changing the score at the end of the first quarter, 5-5.

The second quarter was not quite so fast as far as the Alumni was concerned as the Herberholz-coached Tigers outscored them. Purcell opened the scoring by dropping in a bucket. Wilson of the former hi team followed with a charity toss, and Bill Heggie tallied making the score, 8 to 6. Zeimer scored the last point of the quarter for the Alumni aggregation by completing a free shot.

Rachiff and Good both checked with a goal each as the quarter ended with the score 11-7. Tigers holding the lead.

The last period was fast and furious, everybody fighting for the ball and a few personals being called. Jaggy Davis opened scoring by putting in a bucket followed by Purcell, who dropped in a nice one from the foul line making the score 12-9. However Jag Davis later checked with two more goals, while brother Merle Davis of the Red and Black quintet put in a nice one from the middle of the floor, changing the score 15-13.

Clark of the Alumni completed two free tosses as also did Merle Davis of the Tigers, complete a free throw. At the end of the third quarter the Tigers led by one point, 16-15.

The last quarter was a regular fight for the honors. Zeimer of the Alumni pushed the score up to 17-16 for his team in the opening minutes, immediately followed by Ed Clark who also had a nice shot, and it looked as though the Tigers were faltering, however Bill Heggie put in a goal from under the bucket followed by Merle Davis who completed a charity toss, and again tied the score 19-19.

Wilson of the Alumni again broke the tie to give his team a lead of two points by pushing in a cool and was followed by Merle Davis of the Red and Black who again tied the score 21-21. Merle Davis Rachiff and Good again tried to change the score to 25-21. Davis then left the game on fouls. Wilson and Clark scored the last points of the game for the Alumni by completing free tosses and goals respectively, and White of the Tigers sent in a bucket as the game ended, making the score 27-24.

Simmons of Greenfield refereed the game.

Whitney's Equipose, leading money-winning two-year-old of last year, have been nominated for the Fifty-seventh renewal of the Kentucky Derby. It was announced today by Col. M. J. Winn, president of the American Turf association.

This year's renewal of the $50,000 added Kentucky Derby, richest race of the Blue Grass country, will be run at Churchill Downs on Saturday, May 16.

The list of nominations made public at Churchill Downs today includes all but two or three of the leading two-year-olds of 1930. As in the past 34 years of the racing classic the distance this year will be over a mile and a quarter stretch.

BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL SQUADS LEAVE FOR SUNNY SOUTHLAND

By Copeland C. Burg
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—From Florida to California the magnolias and roses dolled up in their fanciest dresses today and perhaps even the grapefruit and oranges nodded an expansive welcome from their perches of green. For on Monday in the land of multi-honey and sunshine the baseball training camps start their annual business of hatching pennant hopes. Here and there some rookie's heart is going to be broken with a bit of technique that might make Cleopatra bounce around in a grave in sheer envy! great men will turn their ankles and twist their tongues in an orgy of institution the like of which no campus has ever dreamed, and then in a few weeks 16 little armies of bronzed athletes will trek northward again, fit and fighting mad for the springtime slaughter of granddaddies as the 1931 season of 'be big American games is launched.

The world champion Athletics will open their campaign to again top the American League at Fort Myers, Florida, where they will open training Monday under the guidance of the veteran pilot, Connie Mack.

The Cleveland Indians will pitch their tepees at New Orleans and the St. Louis Browns will camp at West Palm Beach, Fla. Pensacola will extend the greetings to the Boston Red Sox and the White Sox of Chicago will camp at San Antonio, Texas.

Washington's Senators will be encamping at Bixby, Miss., and Sacramento, California, will stage the seasoning process for the Detroit Tigers. Several of the Bengals are already in camp there. The New York Yankees left here last night for St. Petersburg, Fla., where Joe McCarthy, formerly of the Cubs, will attempt to manufacture something from nothing.

The Cincinnati Reds will train at Orlando, Florida and the New York Giants will be at San Antonio.

Catalina Island off Los Angeles where Spanish parades once were held will be the heavenly pictures of the Chicago Cubs.

The Phillies are to do their spring training at Winterhaven, Fla. Boston Braves at St. Petersburg and the Pittsburgh Pirates at Ft. Myers.

Robles, California. Brooklyn's Robins are to be at Clearwater, Florida.

All of the clubs will not get going on Monday but by the end of the week most of them will be as sun-burned and weary as Dakota hay hands.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

"Washington's birthday has become not merely a national event, but on having a deep religious significance to the people of our country. Washington symbolizes for us a great devotion to those basic ideals and aspirations for human freedom which must, in the long run, challenge every Christian, and the Church as a Christian institution to devote themselves, their fortunes, their future to a similarly passionate struggle for freedom spiritually, industrially, socially. All the pride which we feel for the Father of our Country puts us under obligation to carry out these ideals. The obligation to risk all as he risked all and as One long before him risked all in behalf of a world in which men and women are free to dream dreams, to achieve an overflowing full life."

Tomorrow is George Washington's birthday. It is an interesting thing to note how large a place worship and prayer had in his life. He was a vestryman in his home church. He had a pew in many churches where he resided in the discharge of his public duties. It is wonderful how great responsibility turns men's thoughts to God. Washington was a firm believer in Providence. The people need God today as they always have. Would it not be wise to follow the example of our great men in their devotion to God's house. The first step Mr. Coolidge took after becoming President was to unite with the church and he has told us the sense of duty that led him to take the step. Go to church tomorrow. Two types of sinners are presented in this lesson; the Pharisee who considered himself righteous but had the wrong spirit and the foreign woman who recognized herself as wicked but sought Christ for pardon.

V. 36. "And one of the Pharisees desired that he would eat with him. And he entered into the Pharisee's house and sat down to meat." It is not known why this invitation was extended; but Christ goes wherever he is invited and where there is a chance to do good.

V. 37. "And behold, a woman who was in the city, a sinner; and when she knew he was sitting at meat in the Pharisee's house, she brought an alabaster cruse of ointment." The pure and friendly Christ has an attraction for the sinner.

V. 38. "And standing behind at his feet, weeping, she began to wet his feet with her tears and wiped them with the hair of her head and kissed his feet and anointed them with the ointment." Her sense of sin and shame and the thought of his purity and pardoning grace opened the fountain of her heart and flowed forth in a flood of penitence and faith. Her tears fell like rain upon the feet of Jesus.

V. 39. "Now when the Pharisee that had bidden him saw it, he spake within himself saying, This man if he were a prophet would have perceived who and what manner of woman is this that toucheth him, that she is a sinner." Jesus read these thoughts in the face

High School Girls Continue Sensational Play

Hand Frankfort 35-15 Drubbing

BY PAT KIRWIN.

Adding another victim to their long row of consecutive victories, which is just an 'old Spanish custom' with them, Miss Rains' Circleville high school girls again trounced Frankfort for the second time on the high school gym floor last evening by the score of 35-15. In a previous game played in the Ross-co town the high school girls defeated Frankfort by the score of 29-17. The game consisted of so many buckets and the Red and Black varsity did not need exert themselves through the game, until the last quarter when the Frankfort lassies garnered a few points.

In the first quarter, the Rains-coached aggregation played such fast ball for the visitors that they didn't realize what was going on, and at the end of this period the High School is Scene of Fast Preliminary Friday Evening; Score is 13-7.

Snapping out of it in the last quarter to over-come a lead, junior class defeated the freshmen in a preliminary game at the high school gym Friday evening by the score of 13 to 7. Not until the last few minutes when the third class boys shot three goals in succession to gain their six point lead did they threaten the fast frosh squad.

The game was evenly played many times, and the good old hard fight prevailing during the entire encounter.

Plum and Griffith of the juniors, with the scores of 6 and 4, respectively led their class, while Smith of the frosh quint with a goal and two free shots accounted for most points.

These inter-class games are played as more or less practice, for the forthcoming inter-class tournament, which will begin at the high school, Friday March 6.

Next week the sophomore-senior boys will meet.

Ashville 12; Perry 10-Boys

A shot by Ward, Ashville's left guard, from the center of the floor, the most sensational shot of the first evening's play, won for the Harrison-twp lads over Perry-twp in the first upset of the tournament. The score was 12-10. Ashville boys had won but one game during the regular season that from Darby which team they will play next.

Ward had shot only twice before in the game, neither hitting. With the score tied 10-10 he dribbled to the center of the court and let the leather fly. It's swish through the strings brought victory.

Sturgell played a nice game for the Ashville team, fighting for the ball at all times. His two goals in the third period put his team in the running. Thacker was the best boy Perry had on the court.

Darby 12; Deercreek 11-Girls

A final minute drive fell one point short of giving Williams-Darby girls a tie with Darby and the Darby-twp aggregation won the first girls' game of the tournament Friday evening, 12-11. The game was raggedly played but an 8-3 lead at the half proved the margin of victory for Darby because the Deercreek aggregation outplayed the winner during the final half.

Darby led through the game. Miss Clarabelle Redman carried off scoring honors when she hit the hoop for two goals and four free tosses. Ater did the heavy work for the Deercreek lassies.

score was 15-2, with Fitzpatrick, Eldridge and Heskett doing the scoring for the local sextet, and Orr for Frankfort.

In the second quarter Frankfort strengthened, and played a good defense, allowing Circleville to score but two points, while they gained six.

Heskett scored the only goal obtained this quarter for Red and Black, while Orr and Smith of the opposition garnered the six points for their side, which included two buckets and a couple of free shots, changing the score at the end of the half 17-8, with Frankfort still on the short end.

The third quarter was more or less evenly played as far as scoring was concerned as the Tigress machine obtained but six points to their opponents' three. Heskett opened the scoring by putting in a goal followed by Orr of Frankfort, who completed two free throws, later following with a goal. Fitzpatrick scored two more buckets and at the end of third quarter the score stood 23-11.

In the fourth quarter, Circleville obtained the ball, and Fitzpatrick dropped in three consecutive goals, before Frankfort was aware of what was coming off, however, Orr followed with a bucket and the score changed 31-13. In the meantime Eldridge and Hitler each scored a bucket, followed by Orr, who again completed a shot, when the game ended, the score 35-15.

Miss Rains sent a group of second stringers in the last quarter, who played fine defense and held Frankfort to a 'one-goal' score.

This completes the girls' eighth consecutive victory, and they hope to add another victim to their row next week when they meet Bliss College here.

RED, BLACK VARSITY DEFEATS ALUMNI QUINTET, SCORE 27-24

Coach Herberholz' Team Comes From Behind In Last Period To Take Verdict In Great Fight; Merle Davis, Freshman, Outscores His Brother.

Playing in a consistent form, Coach Herberholz' Circleville high school Tigers pulled a fast one to defeat the C. H. S. Alumni at the high school gym Friday night by the score of 27-24. The game looked as though anyone could claim it until the last minutes when the Tigers broke loose. The defeat came as a great surprise to the one-time high school lads, who defeated the Red and Black varsity in the opening game of the season by the score of 32-13.

The game was as interesting and as close throughout as any game that has been played on the high school floor this year, as the score changed about 25 times. John Hegele scored the opening points when he tossed in a goal from the side of the floor. Heiskell followed for the Alumni, scoring their first point, by completing a free shot. Merle Davis added another bucket to the score followed by Zeke Zeimer, who also had a nice shot making the score 4-3. Jaggy Davis then completed two charity tosses, followed by White of the Red and Black quint, who shot a free throw, changing the score at the end of the first quarter, 5-5.

The second quarter was not quite so fast as far as the Alumni was concerned as the Herberholz-coached Tigers outscored them. Purcell opened the scoring by dropping in a bucket. Wilson of the former hi team, followed with a charity toss, and Bill Hegele tallied making the score, 8 to 6. Zeimer scored the last point of the quarter for the Alumni aggregation by completing a free shot. Radcliff and Good both checked with a goal each as the quarter ended, with the score 11-7, Tigers holding the lead.

The last period was fast and furious, everybody fighting for the ball and a few persons being called Jaggy Davis opened scoring by putting in a bucket, followed by Purcell, who dropped in a nice one from the foul line making the score 13-9. However Jag Davis later checked with two more goals, while brother Merle Davis of the Red and Black quintet, put in a nice one from the middle of the floor, changing the score 15-13. Clark of the Alumni, completed two free tosses, as also did Merle Davis of the Tigers, complete a free throw. At the end of the third quarter, the Tigers led by one point, 16-15.

The last quarter was a regular fight for the honors. Zeimer of the Alumni pushed the score up to 17-16 for his team, in the opening minutes, immediately followed by Ed Clark who also had a nice shot, and it looked as though the Tigers were faltering, however Bill Hegele put in a goal from under the bucket followed by Merle Davis who completed a charity toss, and again tied the score, 19-19. Wilson of the Alumni, again broke the ice to give his team a lead of two points by pushing in a goal, and was followed by Med Good of the Red and Black, who again tied the score, 21-21. Merle Davis, Radcliff and Good again scored to change the score to 25-21. Davis then left the game on fouls. Wilson and Clark scored the last points of the game for the Alumni by completing free tosses and goals respectively, and White of the Tigers sent in a bucket as the game ended, making the score 27-24.

Simmons of Greenfield refereed the game.

OBTAIN LIQUORS IN POLICE RAID

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Ten thousand dollars worth of rare liquors, seized in a midnight raid in the Englewood police district, was added today to the evidence being gathered by investigators for the special grand jury called to probe the asserted alliance between police and the underworld.

According to prosecutors, the speakeasy raid unearthed evidence that the liquor traffic has flourished in the district under police protection. Three days ago investigators raided the Englewood police station, seizing all books and records.

KENTUCKY DERBY ENTRANTS ANNOUNCED; EVENT IS MAY 16

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 21.—A field of 130 thoroughbreds including C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, leading money-winning two-year-old of last year, have been nominated for the Fifty-seventh renewal of the Kentucky Derby. It was announced today by Col. M. J. Winn, president of the American Turf association.

This year's renewal of the $50,000 added Kentucky Derby, richest race of the Blue Grass country, will be run at Churchill Downs on Saturday, May 16.

The list of nominations made public at Churchill Downs today includes all but two or three of the leading two-year-olds of 1930. Besides Equipoise the nominations include two other two-year-olds of last year which have ruled favorites in winter predictions, the Greentree stable's Twenty Grand and A. C. Bostwick's Mate.

Of three favorites Equipoise perhaps holds the most enviable record. The Whitney horse started 16 times in 1930, winning eight times, placing second in five events and third in one, winning in all $156,835.

Mate of the Bostwick stables succeeded in winning eight firsts in 15 starts, placing second four times and third twice for a total stake of $58,650.

Among the conquests of Equipoise during the 1930 season were his victories in the Keane Memorial stakes at Belmont Park, the Juvenile stakes at Belmont Park, the Great American stakes at the Aqueduct, the Eastern Shore Handicap at Havre De Grace and the Pimlico Futurity.

Mate showed its heels to the fields in the Champagne stakes, the Breeders Futurity at Lexington, the Spaulding Lowe Jenkins handicap at Laurel and the Walden handicap at Pimlico.

Other stars of the two-year old division of last year entered for the fifty-seventh renewal of the derby are R. W. Collins' Don Leon, the Tennessee stables' Vanderpool, George Wingfield's Siskin, Gallaher and Combs' Oswego, Walter J. Salmon's Ladder and Griffin Watkins' Inco.

The Bellair stud of William Woodward, who won last year's derby with Gallant Fox, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable and Mrs. Charles M. Amory's Sagamore stable led in numbers nominated with five each.

Among the other well-known racing establishments represented are those of E. R. Bradley, W. R. Coe, Mrs. Victor Emanuel, J. N. Camden, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, William Du Pont, Jr., Charles T. Fisher, B. B. Jones, Marshall Field, T. D. Taggart, J. E. Davis, Hal Price Headley, Madden Bros. E. B. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. William Ziegler, H. F. Sinclair, Walter J. Salmon, M. L. Schwartz, Mrs. R. T. Wilson and Mrs. H. C. Phipps.

Last year's list of nominations numbered 150, twenty more than this year. Fifteen of those answered the bugle call.

The record list of derby nominations was three years ago when 196 horses were named for the race. That was also the year of the biggest starting field when 22 horses splashed through the mud Aqueduct, the Eastern Shore Handicap at Havre De Grace and the Pimlico Futurity.

As in the past 34 years of the racing classic the distance this year will be over a mile and a quarter stretch.

BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL SQUADS LEAVE FOR SUNNY SOUTHLAND

By Copeland C. Burg

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—From Florida to California the magno-lia and roses dolled up in their fanciest dresses today and perhaps even the grapefruit and oranges nodded an expansive welcome from their perches of green. For on Monday in the land of milk and honey and sunshine the baseball training camps start their annual business of hatching pennant hopes.

Here and there some rookie's heart is going to be broken with a bit of technique that might make Cleopatra bounce around in her grave in sheer envy! great men will turn their ankles and twist their tongues in an orgy of instruction the like of which no campus has ever dreamed, and then in a few weeks 16 little armies of bronzed athletes will trek northward again, fit and fighting mad for the springtime slaughter of grandmothers as the 1931 season of the big American games is launched.

The world champion Athletics will open their campaign to again top the American League at Fort Myers, Florida, where they will open training Monday under the guidance of the veteran pilot, Connie Mack.

The Cleveland Indians will pitch their tepees at New Orleans and the St. Louis Browns will camp at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Pensacola will extend the greetings to the Boston Red Sox and the White Sox of Chicago will cavort at San Antonio, Texas.

Washington's Senators will do conditioning at Biloxi, Miss., and Sacramento, California, will stage the seasoning process for the Detroit Tigers. Several of the Bengals are already in camp there.

The New York Yankees left here last night for St. Petersburg, Fla., where Joe McCarthy, formerly of the Cubs, will attempt to manufacture something from nothing.

The Cincinnati Reds will train at Orlando, Florida and the New York Giants will be at San Antonio.

Catalina Island, off Los Angeles, where Spanish pirates once held forth, will be the heavenly pastures of the Chicago Cubs.

The Phillies are to do their studying at Winterhaven, Fla., the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg and the Pittsburgh Pirates at Paso teles, the Spaulding Lowe Jenkins handicap at Laurel and the Walden handicap at Pimlico.

SCHROEDER, DAGUE PREPARE TO GO TO DEATH FOR SLAYING MAN

NEWCASTLE, Pa.—Date, hour and manner of transferring Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague from the Lawrence-co jail here to the death house at Rockview penitentiary remained a secret today following action of the state pardon board at Harrisburg in refusing to commute the death sentence of the convicted slayers of Corporal Brady Paul.

Sheriff Frank Johnston is believed to be desirous of making the transfer as quietly as possible so as to avoid crowds of morbidly curious.

Reports that extra guards had been posted at the jail to block possible rescue attempt by Irene's brother, Tom Crawford, were declared unfounded. Crawford, alleged third occupant of the brand car from which a volley of gunfire snuffed out the life of Corporal Paul, was reported to be in or near Newcastle.

Search by police, however, failed to substantiate the rumor.

Crawford, variously reported killed in a Texas bank holdup or a fugitive in Canada or Mexico, has eluded the widespread police net since the Paul killing. He was not with Dague and Irene when they were captured with Joe Wells in Arizona. Wells is awaiting imposition of the death penalty for the killing of Deputy Sheriff Lee Wright of Maricopa-co, Arizona, while the trio were fleeing through the western state.

Irene and Dague received the verdict of the pardon board, blotting out their last hope of escaping the death chair with silent stoicism. Sheriff Johnston was quoted as reciting:

"They didn't say a word."

Rev. H. O. Teagarden, boyhood pastor of Dague said later that Dague admitted:

"I had not expected much more."

Irene was visited by her father, Joseph Crawford, and a sister yesterday while the pardon board was deliberating. She has received a new black dress, a birthday present, and may wear the dress on her trip to the death house. Among her birthday gifts also were several bibles.

Dague, a former Sunday school teacher, rebuffed efforts of his wife to bid him goodbye. His wife, an attractive West Virginia school teacher, came to the jail with the couple's two small children, a boy and a girl.

The convicted man, however, refused to see them, saying he did not wish to go through the ordeal of another farewell.

The Price of Bread

WHEN everybody is working and everyone has money to spend for more than the bare necessities of life, neither the citizen nor his government bothers about the cost of things. Then there is business, for all and goods bring all that the seller can get for them. But let a business depression follow with its train of unemployment, wage cuts and suffering and immediately the whole country becomes price-conscious.

Food prices today are appreciably lower than they were a year ago, and yet the government is only now investigating them. When they were at their peak no one questioned their fairness, but now that they are falling the senate starts another investigation.

Thus far the senate investigation has centered on bread prices, with Chairman Capper insisting there is profiteering in some cities. He doubts whether bread prices have kept pace with the decline in the cost of ingredients entering into the manufacture of bread.

The bakers defend their prices on the score that flour represents but a small fraction of the cost of a loaf of bread and that labor and other major items of cost are stationary. Their figures are convincing.

Out of the discussion the public draws the conclusion that wasteful distribution made necessary by keen competition and overcrowding adds something to the cost of bread. The only cure for this is consolidation.

Judicial Reform

INTRODUCTION of a bill in the New York legislature which would make it illegal for judges to engage in business practices regarded as unethical is hardly complimentary to the judiciary or the legal profession. There should be no occasion for such laws.

It reflects upon the bar because there is a sort of reciprocal responsibility between bench and bar. Usually the lawyers dictate which of their number are to be elevated to the bench, and it is largely within the power of the judiciary to determine the ethical standards of the lawyers practicing before it.

When bar associations shrink their plain duty of advising honestly and courageously as to the fitness of men seeking judicial office, they cannot expect a clean and high-minded bench. And where the bar fails more laws can do no good.

Unethical business activities are not justified by the fact that judicial salaries are not in keeping with the station in life of their recipients. No man ever sought a judgeship with his eyes shut to the salary that went with it and the duties and responsibilities of the office.

While the New York incident is a sad commentary on bench and bar, it is to their everlasting credit that conditions behind that incident are not general throughout the nation and that bench and bar have been surprisingly successful in their mutual censorship.

Stamps Bounce Off

POSTMASTER General Brown evidently has a sense of humor or he could not survive the complaints which continue to come to him concerning the non-sticking qualities of postage stamps. Many are of a satirical character. One man suggests that the government revenues might be enhanced if postmasters would sell thumbtacks with which to fasten the stamps on letters. Another intimates that rubber must have been included in the glue if we are to judge by the manner in which they curl and sometimes bounce off stationery.

This stamp problem is not new. Some years ago former Senator John Sharp Williams said the great need was something to improve the taste of the stickum on the stamps, and he proposed flavors to correspond with their color, strawberry for the red two-cent ones and chocolate for the brown ones. In the meantime we realize that it is the small things which cause most of the bother in this world. Here is a big opportunity for some clever inventor.

A Parisian dramatist told an interviewer he wrote his new play at odd times in cafes. While waiting for three-minute eggs, we have no doubt.

The easiest way to lose your money is to borrow money.

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

After giving up Mat Tully because he is poor, Nancy Hollenbeck encourages the attentions of Jack Beamer, wealthy sportsman. Jack plans to divorce his wife and marry Nancy. On a mountain trip, Nancy falls in love with Roger Decatur, handsome ranger. She leaves her chaperones, the wealthy Porters, and secretly marries Roger. Nancy is happy with Roger in his rough mountain cabin, but when he leaves on a trip, the loneliness is unbearable and she returns home. She continues to keep her marriage a secret. Jack Beamer sends flowers and her sister, Lou, attends the engagement party of May Belle Craig. Nancy longs for Roger. Beamer arrives and monopolizes her. Nancy repulses Beamer's advances. Lou is thrilled by Mat Tully's attentions.

CHAPTER XXVIII.
"It was a wonderful party, May Belle—a perfectly wonderful party!" Louise Hollenbeck cried.

"Why, Lou, did you really think it was a success?" Enthusiasm from Louise was rare enough to mean something. May Belle beamed upon her, and noticed for the first time what a really charming gown she was wearing. It was made of some deep purple stuff, that heavily shirred and corded, that had begun life thirty years ago, as a ball dress for mama. Curtain rings and two dozen brass bangles from the ten-cent store were supposed to lend the Venetian touch. Surprisingly, they did. "Why you look beautiful!" May Belle exclaimed. Astonishment glowed on her piquant, freckled face.

Not Missed

A warm, bright blush mounted to the roots of Lou's dark hair. "Do you really think I look nice?" Her eyes searched the mirror over the buffet. Had she really looked lovely to Mat? Hadn't he missed Nancy at all? Nancy . . . she hadn't seen her for hours. The bright blush faded. The old strained look about the mouth and eyes came back. "Has anyone seen Nancy?" she asked nervously, looking from one to the other of the little group beginning to mount the stairs.

"Nancy?" May Belle remembered she had not seen her for hours either.

"Yes, what did happen to Nancy?" Mr. Craig mumbled, a little worried for his old favorite. "Oh, Nancy went to bed hours ago," Mrs. Craig said complacently. "She came to bid me good-night. She had a horrible headache. That wild dance she did was probably too much for her."

"I thought at the time that Beamer person?" May Belle, did you?"

"No, I didn't," May Belle yawned, waving goodnight to Lou, who hurried on ahead. "By the way, Mama, did you ever see Lou Hollenbeck look so nice?"

"No, I never did," her mother agreed acidly. "Of course, you know why?"

"Matthew Tully! He spent every minute with her! I don't believe he paid the LEAST attention to you—at your own party!"

"She can have him," May Belle announced magnanimously, through yawns. "I've got my Gil, the sweet thing. But Helen Heffinger will fix her. Here she got herself up like a plump horse for him and he never saw her. Serves her right; she's such a cat. I'm glad old Lou got a break—oh! I'm sleepy. Let's talk tomorrow. Lou! Where's Lou?"

Lou had already closed and locked the door of the room she was to share with Nancy. She stood in the darkness with her back against the door, listening, listening for Nancy's breathing. For the first time in her life she hadn't "looked out for Nancy." She was almost afraid to turn on the light lest Nancy might not be there.

September passed in a backwash of weddings. Announcements, Rich, black cakes in chaste white boxes. Family arguments over presents. Nancy was a bridesmaid twice. "That means you can't be a bridesmaid for May Belle at Easter," mama worried.

"Three times a bridesmaid, never a bride," Nancy quoted, trying to mimic mama. "I may surprise you and be a bride myself before then!" And she laughed a little wildly.

Mama shut her mouth tightly, so that her thin lips were just a line of blue.

Once they were a family. They all worked together, sharing the same ambitions, the same disappointments, the same joys. Well . . . maybe not Peter. He had ways had a queer inner life of his own. His poor relations. His bills. His dabbings in stocks. The girls got their reticence from him.

Too Secretive

But until this Summer she had known their every thought. Now even the girls had secrets from her. They pounced on mail before she had a chance to see it. They kept things from her. It was a house divided, each pulling a separate way.

Nancy was getting letters from a ranger she met in the mountains. He wrote on the back of the envelopes: "From E. R. Decatur, Gales Flat, Cal." Mama looked at them suspiciously when she brought them in from the mail box. Gales Flat! What a place to be getting letters from.

"Of course it was interesting to exchange one or two letters, dear," she told Nancy in her gentlest voice, "but I wouldn't carry it too far. After all—a ranger—"

"A college graduate, with a diploma and everything, mums!"

"Well, a man like that . . . I hardly think . . . Nancy you aren't SERIOUS about him?"

Serious about Roger . . . Roger, whom she saw all the time in back of her eyes. Who haunted her dreams, who dogged her days. Roger, to whom she stretched out her arms in the night . . .

Nancy's eyes filled. Roger . . . to talk about him, even to say his name would help. It's so hard to be silent . . . Would mama understand? She had been young and pretty once, surely she must have known what it's like to live . . .

Her mouth trembled. "Suppose I am serious about him," she began softly. She groped for the words. Roger's strength, his gentleness, his brown skin, his crisp, sunburnt hair. The way he laughed with his eyes. She wanted to tell it all at once, and she lifted her head, faintly smiling, wondering where to start in, wondering how much she dared to tell.

"You don't know what he's meant to me. Why, he—he—"

Shyly she lifted her eyes to mama's. The eager words froze on her lips.

Mama's mouth was working painfully. A thin finger eased the high boned collar she always wore to conceal her scrawny, withered neck. She said in the hushed, unnatural voice she used when forced to speak of things she considered not quite "nice," "You must be very careful never to speak of a gentleman in that way. It—it doesn't mean anything, mama knows, but anyone listening would have thought—that is, your being away from home at the time, and a ranger and all that—Nancy, you didn't permit any familiarity? You didn't let him . . . kiss you?"

Nancy sat there, eyes shut, hands clenched, fighting for composure, fighting to keep from screaming, half sick with the violence of her own emotion.

Oh well, she wasn't surprised . . . it was what she should have expected from mama, mama who knew but one virtue . . . She rocked in her misery, wringing her hands . . . scarlet, humiliated . . . to think she had almost told her!

Mama reddened, too. Dark stories of the secret sins of the younger generation rushed to her mind . . . a certain movie all about flaming youth . . . an almost forgotten memory of one night just before she was married when Peter had brushed her maidly resistance aside and kissed her until her breath was gone, and her knees gave.

"Nancy! I won't HAVE it!" she cried shrilly.

"You won't have what?"

"I won't have you talking about this ranger as if . . . I mean . . . Nancy, after the way mama has brought you up, so sweet and refined—"

For the first time in her life Nancy was really impudent to her mother. "Oh, shut up!" she shouted, and ran out, slamming the door.

Somebody gave Mat two tickets for the opera, and Mat, who was almost stone deaf and hated seeing fat sopranos cling to stocky tenors' necks, thought he wouldn't go. He had work to do in the laboratory. His experiment was coming along nicely. An advance report on its progress had been published in "Science." There had been flattering comment. With a little luck, and not too much distraction, he would finish before next Summer.

Thinking of distractions made him think of Nancy Hollenbeck. She was the most distracting thing he'd ever known. What in the world was she up to? Didn't she know that everyone was talking about her and Beamer? Didn't she care?

He wondered if he could get her back from Beamer if he tried hard enough? A little shiver of excitement chased down his spine. He got as far as the telephone.

The devil with her! Why should he break his neck on her account? No doubt about her turning him down for Beamer. . . . Little gold digger!

He stood gripping the telephone, smiling grimly.

Well, if she was going to be hardboiled, he would show her that he could be, too.

He asked Louise.

Mrs. Hollenbeck had a start of pain surprise when she saw him, slim and dark in his evening clothes. Something about their unmistakable quality, the easy, natural way he wore them . . .

Had she blundered? Would it have been better to let Nancy drift on with him?

Recognition

How well he looked with Louise! A distinguished couple, really . . . Well, he's really too old for Nancy, and she's too young and pretty, and he's too old for her. And with Lou married it won't be long before Nancy . . . In her mind's eye she saw them walking down the aisle at St. John's . . .

At the opera, right up front in the golden horseshoe, Louise slipped out of her evening cloak and turned a radiant face to Mat.

"Isn't this fun? I can't wait for it to start!"

For the second time Matthew Tully saw her strange, elusive beauty. Her brown satin hair, softly coiled at her neck. Her finely chiseled features. Her sweet, unconscious dignity. His heart warmed to her. Under the cover of her cloak he reached over and pressed her hand. A sympathetic, affectionate squeeze that said more than any words he could find.

The lights went out. The conductor lifted his baton. When the music ceased, Mat applauded with the rest.

There were stars in Louise's eyes. He found himself marveling that he had never really appreciated her before.

eriment, "might be an exception." Further than that he declined to go.

Consequently, for three years since 1928 the battle between the advocates of public operation and private operation has waged spectacularly in Congress, with both sides claiming Mr. Hoover would, in the final analysis, prove their respective stands. The show-down is now almost at hand.

Opponents of the Norris bill base their belief in a veto on the fact that President Hoover approved the Reece bill, which provided for private leasing of the Shos. Moreover, Mr. Hoover went to the assistance of Rep. Reece during the last campaign, when he was threatened with defeat in his Tennessee district.

Rep. Reece was the only member of Congress for whom the President wrote a supporting campaign letter. It proved to be in vain, however, for Reece was soundly defeated.

The fact that the power issue probably will play a considerable part in the next presidential campaign only lends added political interest to Mr. Hoover's decision. From all indications, it will be a difficult one for him to make.

AT THE CLIFTONA

New among modern love triangles is the strange choice forced upon the delectable Marlene Dietrich, the famous European actress who makes her American screen debut in "Morocco," the Sunday feature at the Cliftona Theatre. Both the lovers, Gary Cooper and dapper Adolphe Menjou, are men any woman might love. Miss Dietrich is compelled to make a difficult choice.

Cooper, in the role of a reckless soldier in the French Foreign Legion; Menjou, as a worldly-wise, sophisticated man-of-the-world, represent two distinct and widely separated types of manhood. Their ideals, their ideas, their modes of life are infinitely separated. Yet both are admirable and worthy of a woman's love. Miss Dietrich has the choice.

4-YEAR-TERM WINS FAVOR

COLUMBUS, O.—Approval of the Taft plan providing four-year terms for the governor and other elective state officers was expected to be voted in the state Senate this afternoon in the first balloting on the resolution since its introduction.

Democrats lined up in support of the plan from the Republican side of the Senate yesterday, indicating passage by a safe margin over as the last word in reality and humanness. Its simplicity and directness and unprecedented "kick" resulting from these two qualities have made it the greatest stage play of the century. In producing the all-dialogue screen version, Tiffany adhered religiously to the original stage script and the result is, according to those who have seen the picture, that viewing "Journey's End" on the screen is equivalent to spending two hours in the front line trenches.

Dog Bites Should Be Promptly Cauterized

—Even If the Animal Is in Good Health

Immediate Treatment Is Essential and Has Been the Deciding Factor in Saving Many a Life, Says Dr. Copeland, Urging These Wounds Be Not Neglected

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

EVERY year many thousands of persons are bitten by dogs. Not all of these bites are made by mad dogs, of course. Frequently much unnecessary alarm is aroused. However, in view of the seriousness of a bite from a diseased dog, it is well to keep the animal under observation.

The number of bites from dogs has increased with the increase in the number of dogs. In the past few years, the number of bites has increased with the increase in the number of dogs.

It is of interest to note that in 1926 there were 8,608 dog bites reported in the City of New York, while in 1929 there were 12,279 dog bites. In 1929 462 dogs were found rabid and in 1929 only 157 were found to be truly mad.

In 1927 there were six deaths in the City of New York due to hydrophobia, as against two deaths in 1929.

Rabies or hydrophobia is a disease caused by a germ. The disease is called "Rabies" because it is a disease of the mind.

It is a disease of the mind, and it is a disease of the mind.

It is a disease of the mind, and it is a disease of the mind.

It is a disease of the mind, and it is a disease of the mind.

It is a disease of the mind, and it is a disease of the mind.

It is a disease of the mind, and it is a disease of the mind.

It is a disease of the mind, and it is a disease of the mind.

The Price of Bread

When everybody is working and everyone has money to spend for more than the bare necessities of life, neither the citizen nor his government bothers about the cost of things. Then there is business for all and goods bring all that the seller can get for them. But let a business depression follow with its train of unemployment, wage cuts and suffering and immediately the whole country becomes price-conscious.

Food prices today are appreciably lower than they were a year ago, and yet the government is only now investigating them. When they were at their peak no one questioned their fairness, but now that they are falling the senate starts another investigation.

Thus far the senate investigation has centered on bread prices, with Chairman Capper insisting there is profiteering in some cities. He doubts whether bread prices have kept pace with the decline in the cost of ingredients entering into the manufacture of bread.

The bakers defend their prices on the score that flour represents but a small fraction of the cost of a loaf of bread and that labor and other major items of cost are stationary. Their figures are convincing.

Out of the discussion the public draws the conclusion that wasteful distribution made necessary by keen competition and overcrowding adds something to the cost of bread. The only cure for this is consolidation.

Judicial Reform

INTRODUCTION of a bill in which New York legislature would make it illegal for judges to engage in business practices regarded as unethical is hardly complimentary to the judiciary or the legal profession. There should be no occasion for such laws.

It reflects upon the bar because there is a sort of reciprocal responsibility between bench and bar. Usually the lawyers dictate which of their number are to be elevated to the bench, and it is largely within the power of the judiciary to determine the ethical standards of the lawyers practicing before it.

When bar associations shirk their plain duty of advising honestly and courageously as to the fitness of men seeking judicial office, they cannot expect a clean and high-minded bench. And where the bar fails more laws can do no good.

Unethical business activities are not justified by the fact that judicial salaries are not in keeping with the station in life of their recipients. No man ever sought a judgeship with his eyes shut to the salary that went with it and the duties and responsibilities of the office.

While the New York incident is a sad commentary on bench and bar, it is to their everlasting credit that conditions behind that incident are not general throughout the nation and that bench and bar have been surprisingly successful in their mutual censorship.

Stamps Bounce Off

POSTMASTER General Brown evidently has a sense of humor or he could not survive the complaints which continue to come to him concerning the non-sticking qualities of postage stamps. Many are of a satirical character. One man suggests that the government revenues might be enhanced if postmasters would sell thumbtacks with which to fasten the stamps on letters. Another intimates that rubber must have been included in the glue if we are to judge by the manner in which they curl and sometimes bounce off stationery.

This stamp problem is not new. Some years ago former Senator John Sharp Williams said the great need was something to improve the taste of the stickum on the stamps, and he proposed flavors to correspond with their color, strawberry for the red two-cent ones and chocolate for the brown ones. In the meantime we realize that it is the small things which cause most of the bother in this world. Here is a big opportunity for some clever inventor.

A Parisian dramatist told an interviewer he wrote his new play at odd times in cafes. While waiting for three-minute eggs, we have no doubt.

The easiest way to lose your money is to borrow money.

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

After giving up Mat Tully because he is poor, Nancy Hollenbeck encourages the attentions of Jack Beamer, wealthy sportsman. Jack plans to divorce his wife and marry Nancy. On a mountain trip, Nancy falls in love with Roger Decatur, handsome ranger. She leaves her chaperones, the wealthy Porters, and secretly marries Roger. Nancy is happy with Roger in his rough mountain cabin, but when he leaves on a trip, the loneliness is unbearable and she returns home. She continues to keep her marriage a secret. Jack Beamer sends flowers. Nancy and her sister, Lou, attend the engagement party of May Belle Craig. Nancy longs for Roger. Beamer arrives and monopolizes her. Nancy repulses Beamer's advances. Lou is thrilled by Mat Tully's attentions.

CHAPTER XXVIII.
It was a wonderful party, May Belle—a perfectly wonderful party! Louise Hollenbeck cried.

"Why, Lou, did you really think it was a success?" Enthusiasm from Louise was rare enough to mean something. May Belle beamed upon her, and noticed for the first time what a really charming gown she was wearing. It was made of some deep purple stuff, heavily shirred and corded, that had begun life thirty years ago, as a ball dress for mama. Curtain ring earrings and two dozen bangles from the ten-cent store were supposed to lend the Venetian touch. Surprisingly, they did. "Why you look beautiful!" May Belle exclaimed. Astonishment glowed on her piquant, freckled face.

Not Missed

A warm, bright blush mounted to the roots of Lou's dark hair. "Do you really think I look nice?" Her eyes searched the mirror over the buffet. She had really looked lovely to Mat! Hadn't he missed Nancy at all? Nancy... she hadn't seen her for hours. The bright blush faded, the old strained look about the mouth and eyes came back. "Has anyone seen Nancy?" she asked nervously, looking from one to the other of the little group beginning to mount the stairs.

"Nancy?" May Belle remembered she had not seen her for hours either. "Yes, what did happen to Nancy?" Mr. Craig mumbled, a little worried for his old favorite. "Oh, Nancy went to bed hours ago," Mrs. Craig said complacently. "She came to bed, good-night. She had a horrible headache. That wild dance she did was probably too much for her. . . I thought at the time . . . by the way, whoever invited that Beamer person? May Belle, did you?"

"No, I didn't," May Belle yawned, waving goodnight to Lou, who hurried on. "By the way, May Belle, did you ever see Lou Hollenbeck look so nice?" "No, I never did," her mother agreed acidly. "Of course, you know why?" "Why?" "Matthew Tully! He spent every minute with her! I don't believe he paid the LEAST attention to you—at your own party!" "She can have him," May Belle announced magnanimously, through yawns. "I've got my Giff, the sweet thing. But Helen Giffinger will fix her. Here she got herself up like a plash horse for him and he never saw her. Serve her right; she's such a cat. I'm glad Lou got a break—oh! I'm sleepy. Let's talk tomorrow. Lou! Where's Lou?" Lou had already closed and locked the door of the room she was to share with Nancy. She stood in the darkness with her back against the door, listening, listening for Nancy's breathing. For the

MUSCLE SHOALS, BUGABOO FOR YEARS, BACK IN WHITE HOUSE

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
WASHINGTON — Muscle Shoals, a "hoon" dog" of politics for more than 10 years, was headed back to the White House doorstop today while the politicians of both parties became keenly interested in the fate that is to befall it there.

The compromise worked out by Senate and House conferees on this famous war-time white elephant provides for government operation of the power plant and government construction of pipelines to carry the manufactured power to the communities.

It is expected that both houses will pass the bill. It will then go to President Hoover to approve or veto it, and no decision that Mr. Hoover has to make is awaited with more political interest.

Almost all of the elements contained in that perennial controversy about public vs. private ownership of public utilities are bound up in the fate of Muscle Shoals. For nearly 12 years the battle has raged through every session of Congress. The progressives in both parties have fought steadily and with great resourcefulness for government operation. They have met with just as steady and just as resourceful opposition by the conservatives of both parties, to whom the phrase "government ownership" is anathema and sneaking of socialism.

Once before the progressives won—to the extent of depositing a government operation law on the White House doorstep. That was on the Coolidge administration. Then, as now, it was close to the end of a lame-duck session—so close in fact that Mr. Coolidge killed it with a pocket veto. Then the fight began all over again. The compromise arranged today represents a smashing victory for Senator George Norris (R) of Nebraska, the doughty opponent of the so-called "power trust."

It was widely predicted today that a presidential veto would be cast at the White House. Yet some of the bill's backers professed to see here that Mr. Hoover would approve it and thus end the 10-year battle. Whether he will or not remains to be seen.

The bill's sponsors have their hopes largely upon a statement made by Mr. Hoover in the midst of the 1928 campaign. In one of his campaign speeches, devoted almost wholly to the subject of power, Mr. Hoover declared his broad general policy to be in favor of the private development and operation of power as a basis of public development and operation.

But, in response to a specific question as to whether he included Muscle Shoals in this broad general policy, he replied that Muscle Shoals, which was built at an expense of $150,000,000 to the gov-

Immediate Treatment Is Essential and Has Been the Deciding Factor in Saving Many a Life, Says Dr. Copeland, Urging These Wounds Be Not Neglected

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

EVERY year many thousands of persons are bitten by dogs. Not all of these bites are made by mad dogs, of course. Frequently much unnecessary alarm is aroused. However, in view of the seriousness of a bite from a diseased dog, it is well to keep the animal under observation.

The number of bites from dogs has increased in the past few years. But the number of dogs found and in 1929 and 1930 were 22,000 and 19,000 respectively. In 1929 there were 64 deaths in the City of New York due to hydrophobia, as against two deaths in 1928.

Rabies or hydrophobia is a disease caused by a germ. The disease in animals is spoken of as "Rabies," and in man is known as "Hydrophobia." The germ causing this disease is carried in the saliva of the animal. When the animal bites, the skin is torn and the germ enters through the broken skin.

Every dog bite should be immediately placed under the care of a physician. Regardless of whether the dog was mad or not, the wound should be immediately cauterized. This is exceedingly important and often proves to have been the deciding factor in the saving of a life. Prompt cauterization of all bites with fuming nitric acid is the treatment and it should never be overlooked—if it is possible to apply it.

Where it is definitely known that the animal was mad, the victim must be sent immediately to a hospital. Here he receives the treatment known as the "Pasteur treatment." This treatment covers a period of three weeks and is usually successful, particularly if there has not been too long a delay in the cauterization of the wound.

If all does were not allowed to run as it is called, the victim must be sent immediately to a hospital. Here he receives the treatment known as the "Pasteur treatment." This treatment covers a period of three weeks and is usually successful, particularly if there has not been too long a delay in the cauterization of the wound.

It is of interest to note that in 1924 there were 8,608 dogs in the City of New York. In 1929 there were 22,000 dogs. In 1930 there were 19,000 dogs. In 1929 there were 64 deaths in the City of New York due to hydrophobia, as against two deaths in 1928.

We Announce Elementary Red and Black

Red and Black is overlaid to announce the addition of an Elementary Red and Black. Coming, as it does, upon the fourth anniversary of the school paper, it is indeed welcome news.

Pat Kirwin and Willbur Funk Jr., are editors of this new project. Watch for their publication under the head of Elementary Red and Black at various times in the daily Circleville Herald.

WE ARE FOUR YEARS OF AGE

Today is the fourth anniversary of the publication of Red and Black!

During these past four years, the supervisor, editors, and staff members have attempted to get out a newspaper each of 40 school Saturdays.

Our readers are the judges as to how well Red and Black has lived up to its motto as expressed just four years ago, "All school news of all the school people to all those interested in school affairs all the time."

As the purpose of our journalism class, we advocate the code of the Pennsylvania Press association and the Columbia Scholastic Press association as published in the November Scholastic Editor:

School publications have no place for commercialized material.

They aim to serve all of the students.

A student publication, written by the faculty, is sailing under false colors.

The prime purpose of a school publication is not the teaching of journalism, but the presentation of creative work of students, and to give the school creative educational publicity.

There is no need for censorship when the staff has good morale. Credit should be given for high quality work.

The school publication belongs to the school as a whole and not to any one department.

Contests frequently result in mere pretense.

Many errors in a school publication are better than a faculty-written organ.

The school press is an allied-curricular activity rather than extra-curricular activity.

SENIORS LET'S

ATTEND IN GROUP

Friday, February 27, is the last varsity basketball game at home, this season. It is the last chance, except at the boys' class 'A' tournament at Delaware, that we will have to cheer for the varsity team of 1931. Let's all turn out and see the seniors play their last game for C. H. S.

It wouldn't be a bad idea for the senior class to attend the Grandview-Circleville boys' game and the Bliss College-Circleville girls' game in a body. It would be something new and unusual for a senior class and it would set an example for classes to follow. See your fellow classmates play their last game of basketball for Circleville high school.

Let's go seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshmen, eighth grade, and all. Let's pack the gymnasium with "loyal supporters" that will yell until it is heard up town where the "downtown coaches" might hear and have something to talk about.

EDITOR OF RED AND BLACK

Has Circleville high school an orchestra? If so where is it? What is it doing? Why don't we hear it? These are the questions raised every day by the student body.

The orchestra to my opinion should have as much attention as athletics. It is a school activity. The orchestra has played before the student body only once this year. A band can not be started when the orchestra doesn't appear more than twice a year; hence, the members of the band will think what is the use to join the band? The orchestra seldom plays, may be the band won't either.

I know the students thoroughly enjoy these programs and we all hope the orchestra will play for us again in the near future.

A SOPHOMORE

HONOR CLUB HAS

SOCIAL AFFAIR

Epsilon Mu Sigma discussed "David Copperfield" at a meeting held at the home of Grace Steele, Monday night.

At the next meeting each girl will bring an outline of a story from which the best will be chosen. Each girl will then add to this, making one complete story.

ENTERTAIN GIRL RESERVE GROUP

Twenty-three members, Advisor Elma Rains, and Girl Reserve Advisor Velma Watson attended a meeting of the Athletic Hobby group at Betty Nelson's home, S. Court-st, Wednesday evening. Betty Nelson and Gene Rader served as hostesses.

A discussion arose as to whether the meetings should be held every two weeks. It was decided not to change the schedule. At each meeting a girl is to give a report on some sport. Sara Steinhauer will report on hockey at the next meeting.

Salad sandwiches and cocoa were served by the hostesses.

Coleman Joins Faculty

C. W. Coleman, Columbus, O., teacher of 25 years experience, has been appointed to fill the temporary vacancy of Miss Margaret Mattinson who is confined to Mt. Carmel hospital, with anemia.

BAND PRACTICES TWICE A WEEK

Two rehearsals each week is the program for the C. H. S. band from now on. This will continue until the beginners get started. Practice is held on Monday and Friday.

Thirty new music standards have arrived. These will be school property and are not to be taken from the school building.

The present text of band instruction is C. F. Toeniges' 'Music Master', Most Modern Elementary Method, Especially Adapted for Classroom Practice, Most Progressive for Private Teaching.

Exercises in one and two sharps are being practiced at the present, and a simple waltz has also been played.

HANDICRAFT CLUB ENJOYS LUNCHEON

Handicraft group met at the home of Dorothy Sampson, E. Franklin-st., Tuesday evening. There were 12 present.

President Lucille Kirkwood took charge of the business meeting. A discussion was held on the kind of wood suitable for the Girl Reserves bulletin board, yet to be made.

After the business meeting the members worked on the yarn pocketbooks they are making.

Virginia Nelson and Dorothy Sampson, joint hostesses, served butterscotch meringue, macaroons, and coffee.

MISS WITTICH NAMED

Miss Helen Wittich, local supervisor of music, has been chosen a member of the program-committee of the Central Ohio Music Supervisory association for 1931.

SIX ACCEPTED BY GIRL RESERVES

Girl Reserves elected 6 new members Thursday noon. Theda Bowsher, Margaret Buskirk, Margaret Long, Jane Mader, Martha Scholler, and Eleanor Young will be initiated next Thursday evening at the monthly social meeting.

All seniors will participate in the formal initiation. Gene Rader, chairman, Ruth Moffitt, Alice Cummings, and Ethel Hussey have charge of the rest of the initiation.

PURCELL PLACED ON LEAGUE TEAM

Carl Purcell, Tiger flashy basketball forward, was given right forward position on Bob English's Dispatch All Central Buckeye League second team.

Dean White, Bill Hegele, Mad Good, and John Hegele were also given consideration.

Red and Black extend congratulations to these boys, as well as to the rest of the Tiger squad, 'who all fought a good fight'.

SENIORS TO HOLD

OLD CUSTODIANS HOLD THEIR OWN

Ashes to ashes,
Dust to dust
If the hard work doesn't get us
The children must.

This ditty is probably the theme song of janitors, John Stout and John Madden, veterans of 13 years service at the high and Corwin-st schools.

Both janitors have seen hundreds of students pass through both buildings and many teachers come and go.

In the opposite direction, they have seen hundreds of tons of coal and ashes pass in and out of their furnaces and new improvements added to the buildings.

Says Johnnie Stout, concerning duties in his dominions, "We have: More than 150 pounds of ashes from the furnaces each day.

Practically 200 tons of coal per year.

Six furnaces with 30 foot grate surface.

Heat at 160 degrees up.

Few repairs in 13 years.

Fan with 15 horse power to suck in cool air.

Six medifiers to save fuel.

Addition of air intake, and a Pain in the back at eight o'clock."

Johnnie Madden continues the story by stating that he has: "More than 80 pounds of ashes daily.

More than 40 ton of coal yearly.

Three furnaces with 12 foot grate surface.

Heat at 145 degrees.

No repairs in 13 years.

Fan with 8 horse power engine to cool building.

Three medifiers to save fuel.

Cool air under building from street, and Rheumatism."

Both old timers agree that, it's a great life, if you don't weaken.

TIPS FOR TRIMMING CIRCLEVILLE TREES

Because trees around Circleville have been so badly cut up by persons pretending to know the principles of tree trimming, these suggestions are made Except while relatively young the hard maples need no trimming except the removal of lower limbs for when the limbs and leaves are wet, hang low over the sidewalks. Another instance is when these hard maples are on lawns and the lower limbs need to be removed to permit light and a free circulation of air to promote the growth of grass. When major limbs are cut they should be cut as close to the body of the tree as possible, leaving no stubs and the wound should be painted with white lead or pitch paint.

The soft maples on the other hand should be trimmed frequently because their limbs soon grow so long that they are twisted off in small windstorms. Elms, Buckeyes, Linn and Horsechestnut need very little trimming except to keep the lower limbs cut. As a tree grows the height of the limbs where they join the trunk does not change, so in trimming young trees keep this in mind.

Almost invariably trees should be trimmed with the thought of one main trunk only and if two main branches develop, one should be removed. When two limbs grow in a direction to crowd one another, the lesser one should be removed. Cavities in trees should be cleaned of rotted wood and filled with cement. Bark damage to trees through accident should be trimmed cleanly at the edges and covered with burlap.

In case of a bad wound in a large tree, the wound should be coated with fresh cow manure before the burlap is wrapped around it.

A little later suggestions will be made for the care of lawns as this is too early for much to be done in this direction, except a warning here; do not put stable manure on your lawn. It is unsightly and does considerable damage and must be removed later. More will be said about this later.

Either trim, or have your trees trimmed now. If you have fruit trees that have not been sprayed with a dormant spray, this should be done now. Your grape vines could be trimmed about the 25th of this month if you want fruit this year.

DEATH OF TWO

and that Dague has taken to reading the Bible for consolation.

Dague's wife, whom he left for the love of the pudgy, blonde Irene, is standing by him loyally. Mrs. Dague, a former West Virginia school teacher, and her two children, Delmar, 11, and Marlys, 7, visited Dague in his cell at New Castle. The doomed man kissed his children affectionately but was restrained in his farewell to his wife. He merely shook hands with her.

Irene's relatives visited her, too. There were tears in her eyes as she put her arms around her son, Donnie, aged 5 years. The little tot just could not understand why his mother felt so badly. Her father, Joseph Crawford, a former fish peddler, was broken hearted as he told her that he had failed in his plea to the Governor for clemency.

READY TO DIE
"I'm ready to die, Pap, you've done all you could for me," she smiled through her tears.

Mrs. Schroeder and Dague are still very much in love with each other. Like Judd Gray, who was married, and a father, and who succumbed to the wiles of Ruth Snyder, Dague fell for the charms of the blonde Irene almost at first sight. Their illicit love turned them both from the path of righteousness and into a life of crime.

They met on a street corner in Wheeling, W. Va., Dague at the time was an automobile salesman and Irene was a waitress.
